20 Persons Hurt As Turbulent Air Buffets Jetliner

NEW YORK (AP) — A Paris-bound Pan American World Airways 747 jumbo jetliner carrying 163 persons including Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., was forced to return here Wednesday night after being buffeted by severe clear air turbulence that injured 14 passengers and six stewardesses.

Six passengers and one stewardess were admitted to hospitals, the airline said. One man suffered a heart attack, a spokesman said and injuries to the other 19 ranged from lacerations to broken bones.

Those with minor injuries were treated at the Pan Am terminal or the hospitals and released.

Four ambulances met the plane, the largest commercial aircraft in service, on its return to John F. Kennedy Airport at 11:30 p.m. It had taken off at 9:14 p.m. and hit the turbulence over Nantucket, Mass.

Javits was not among the injured but said he was "a little shaken up because it took a long while to get out of the turbulence."

Javits, who was on his way to a NATO meeting at the Hague, said "A lot of people who were in their seats literally hit the roof of the plane."

A veteran Navy pilot who was a passenger, Lt. Cmdr. J. L. Meiling, told newsmen, "We must have fallen anywhere from 2,000 to 5,000 feet in a matter of no more than five minutes."

Javits praised crew members "for their cool-headed control in handling the situation."

Other passengers praised Meiling, of Provo, Utah, who was traveling with his wife Sheila and 6-month-old son, Neal.

They said Meiling made a "circus catch" to save his son from injury after the boy was hurled out of his bassinets.

Passengers said that Meiling then turned to help others including a stewardess who was bleeding from the back of the head.

The airline spokesman had no immediate comment on Meiling's report that the plane had fallen 2,000 to 5,000 feet. He said the plane was at about 30,000 feet when the incident occurred.

He said the crew would be questioned by Pan Am officials and by investigators for the Federal Aviation Administration and the National Transportation Safety Board.

When the plane landed newsmen could detect no evident damage to the exterior but the cabin was littered with broken dishes, pillows, hand luggage, blankets, clothing and other items.

The captain "explained to us that the turbulence did not show up on the plane's radar or at JFK," another passenger said.

Later, 119 of the original 148 passengers, including some persons who received minor injuries, boarded another 747 to resume the journey to Paris. The plane took off at 4:32 a.m.

Blame Friction For Silver Bridge Tragedy

NEW YORK (AP) — An engineering professor said Wednesday that he believed excessive friction apparently unanticipated by designers was to blame for a 1967 bridge disaster on the Ohio River in which 46 persons died.

Collapse of the Silver Bridge at Point Pleasant, W.Va., he said, was caused by the failure of a connecting point between two steel eyebars that was subjected through friction—"to extremely high localized stress."

Had the doughnut-shaped connecting points been lubricated, "the disaster, in all likelihood, would not have occurred," said Dr. Daniel Dicker, professor and executive officer of the College of Engineering at the State University of New York at Stony Brook.

He said his report, based on independent research, will be published in the December issue of "Civil Engineering," journal of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

In the disaster on Dec. 15, 1967, 31 cars plunged into the icy Ohio River after girders in the steel superstructure of the two-lane bridge twisted in convulsive circles, then snapped.

A federal task force, reporting a year later, tentatively blamed stress and corrosion in one of the eyebars that suspended the bridge from its two main towers. A final report has not been released.

Dr. Dicker, who completed his own independent research in 1968 but said he held up publication until now, in reference to an expected final federal report, said the initial break occurred in an eybar connecting point.

The eyebars—steel rods about 50 feet long and 12 inches wide—were linked in chains between towers at opposite ends of the bridge, he said. Where two eyebars met, they were joined by connecting pins through doughnut-hole openings at each end of the eyebars.

It was one of these head-pin linkages that failed, causing the entire bridge to collapse, Dr. Dicker said.

Dr. Dicker concluded that extensive use of the Silver Bridge by heavily-laden trucks weighing 40,000 pounds or more was an important factor in the collapse.

Canadian Fire Claims 17 Oldsters

MONTREAL (AP) — Fire raced through a home for the elderly today in the Montreal suburb of Pointe-aux-Trembles and 17 persons perished. Police said all died of asphyxiation.

Seventeen other residents of the Foyer Ste. Bernadette home managed to escape the flames, which broke out at 4 a.m., after a furnace exploded in the basement of the three-floor brick and stone building. The survivors were taken to a hospital where their condition was listed as satisfactory.

Pierre Gariepy, Pointe-aux-Trembles chief of police, said a great deal of smoke was pouring from the building when firemen arrived. He said the victims probably died in their sleep.

The owner of the home, Lucien Paradis, said it had passed a government safety inspection two weeks ago.

Ohio GOP Looks For Bright Spots

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sounding like a true politician, Republican State Chairman John S. Andrews says the Ohio GOP already has started to regroup and plan for the next election.

"I am confident that all Republicans will pull together in the months ahead to lay the groundwork for victory in 1972," Andrews told newsmen Wednesday.

Despite the loss of all but two statehouse offices, Andrews said there were some bright spots for Republicans in Tuesday's voting.

He noted the election of Robert Taft Jr. gives Ohio two Republican senators for the first time in 14 years. And the success of 17 GOP congressmen keeps Ohio's Republican delegation the largest in the U.S. House.

"But there is no question that we had our problems and took some bad bumps this year," Andrews said, expressing particular disappointment with the defeat of Roger Cloud by Democrat John J. Gilligan in the governor's race.

He acknowledged the state loan scandal had something to do with the Republican losses. Other factors, he said, included the stock market, unemployment and lack of campaign funds.

Gilligan captured the governor's chair with a 340,000-vote plurality. Democrats William J. Brown, Gertrude Donahay

Heavy Snow Hits Virginia

Mercury Slumps
Across South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy snow belted the central Appalachians and freezing cold settled deep into the South today as an autumn storm swirled up the Eastern Seaboard.

Thirteen inches of snow was reported at Montebello, Va., on the Blue Ridge Parkway. Nine inches blanketed Hot Springs, Va. Driving was termed hazardous over most mountain roads through the region.

Temperatures staggered into the low 30s, and occasionally lower, across a wide area of the Deep South. Frost or freeze warnings were in effect from the Carolinas to Georgia, Alabama and northwestern Florida.

Gale warnings were in effect along the coast from Virginia Beach, Va., north to Cape Ann, Mass.

One to 2 inches of rain was common in lowland sections of the Middle Atlantic States from New Jersey through Virginia. Rain also spilled out of the Pacific Northwest into Nevada and south over central California as a new cold front rolled through that region.

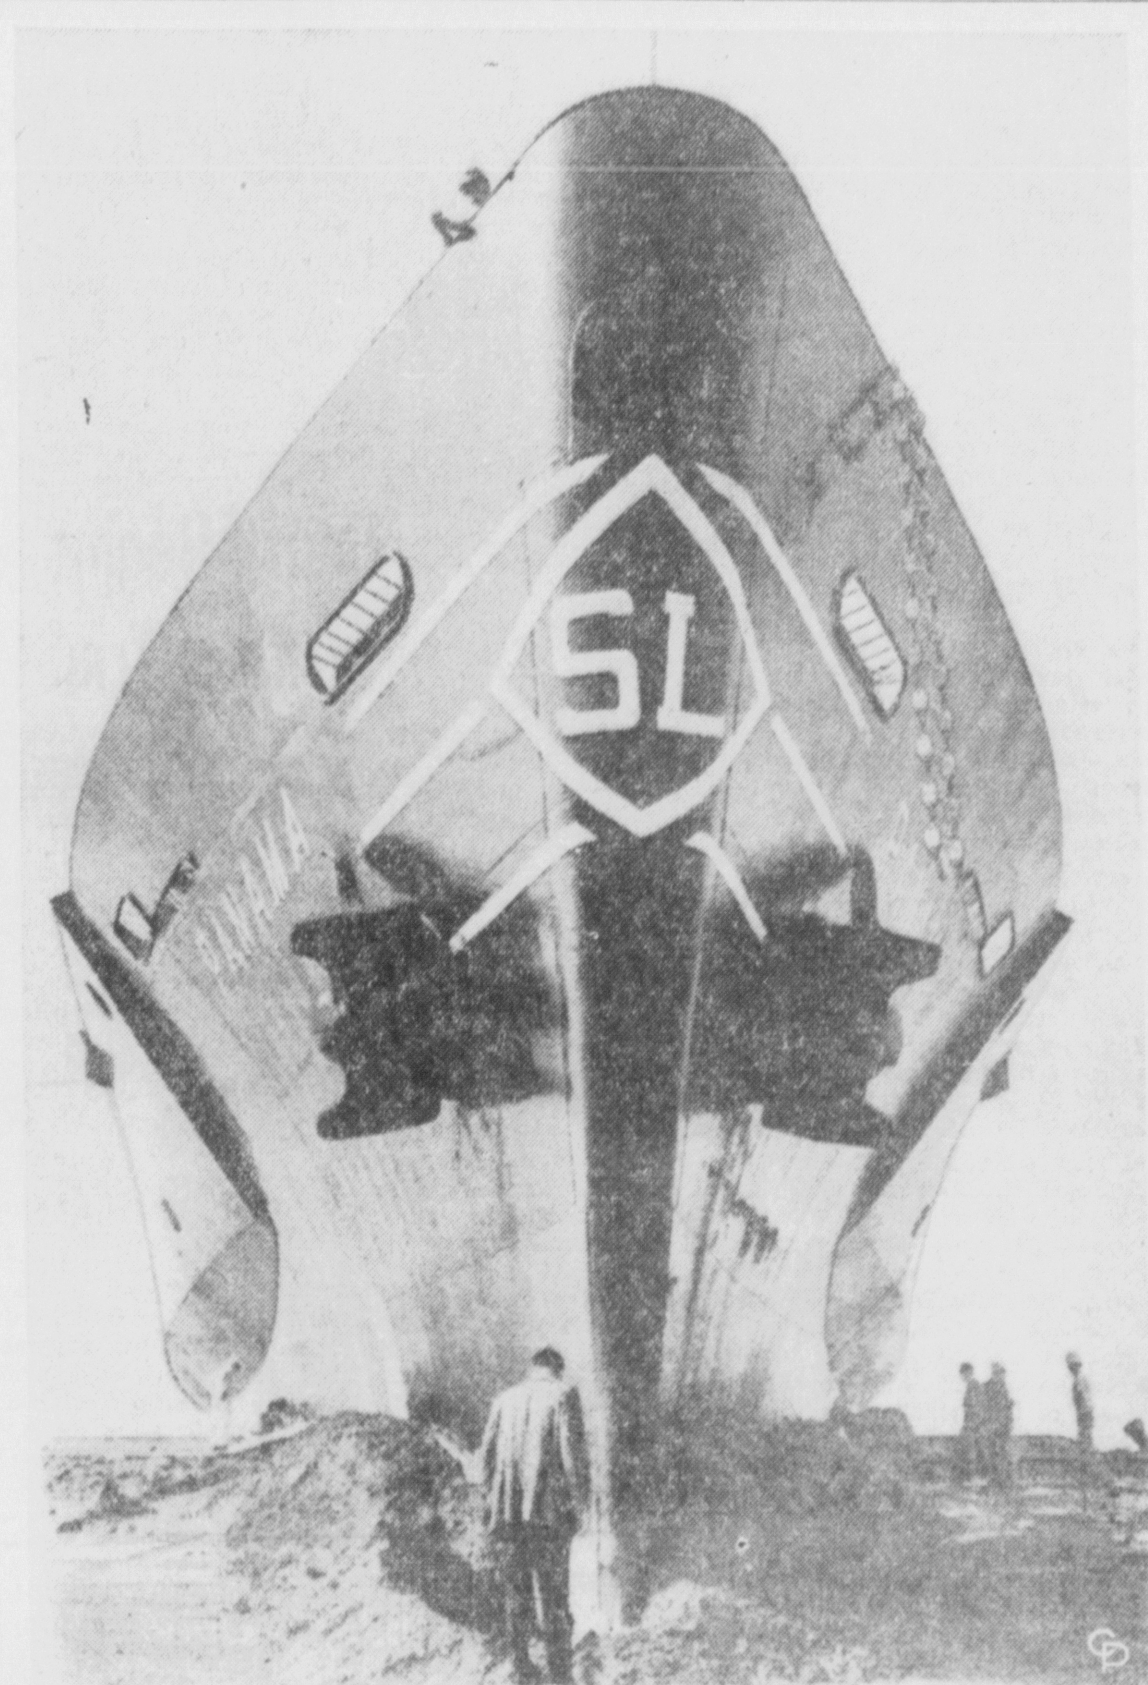

Fair and generally pleasant weather favored a large interior portion of the country from the Rockies through the Mississippi Valley and most of the Great Lakes.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 9 at Havre, Mont., to 70 at Key West, Fla.

Armitage Appointed 1st OSU Ombudsman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Richard H. Armitage, 52, provost at the University of Missouri, is coming back to Ohio State University as the school's first ombudsman.

Armitage was appointed to the $27,700 job Wednesday. He left Ohio State in July after 22 years as a faculty member and seven years as graduate school dean.

Demos To Push Own Plans For Economy, Albert Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reinforced House Democrats may present their own economic program if the Nixon administration does not change its policies, according to Rep. Carl Albert, the chamber's prospective new speaker.

Albert took issue in an interview with two interpretations of Tuesday's election—that the smaller-than-average Democratic House gains for off-year elections were not significant and that voter concern with inflation and unemployment did not play a major role.

"We are going into the new Congress with the biggest Democratic majority since the Johnson landslide of 1964," Albert said.

Democrats picked up at least nine House seats, for a total of 254. This contrasts with 243 at the beginning of the last Congress and 248 at the start of the one four years ago.

It is, however, well short of the 295 seats Democrats won in 1964 when Lyndon B. Johnson overwhelmed Sen. Barry Goldwater in the presidential election.

"I would hope this would encourage the administration to take the state of the economy more seriously," Albert said.

"They haven't done so up to now."

Albert said the Democrats in the House already have taken some legislative steps. Over administration opposition, they have passed standby credit, wage and price controls which have not been used.

"We could do more," Albert said. "I would hope that we could work together with the administration, but if not we will have to go ahead on our own."

Albert said his party will benefit not only its gains in the House but by a heightened sense of unity resulting from the deep involvement by Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in the congressional campaign.

"A lot of people are resentful because it was a sort of a smear campaign," Albert said. "It was absurd to try to put Democrats in the position of tolerating stonewalling of the President. We are just as much opposed to that as anyone."

Albert said while the election returns need more analysis, it appears the economic issue was important in areas, including notably California, where there has been a slump in business and employment.

"That was the No. 1 issue, although they denied it," he said. "I don't think there is any other way to consider this election than as a very splendid Democratic victory."

Since Democrats are assured of control of the House, they will name the speaker when the new Congress convenes in January, Albert is unopposed to succeed the retiring speaker, John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

Carbon Dioxide Leak Kills 12

KRISTIANSAND, Norway (AP) — Twelve men perished and more than 50 were hospitalized for severe gas poisoning after a lethal carbon dioxide leak in the sprinkler fire extinguishing system aboard a ship here today.

A local fire brigade spokesman said at least 12 workers died aboard the motor tanker Pollo, which was undergoing reconstruction at Kristiansand Mekaniske Verkstedes shipyard.

About 100 men were working aboard the 19,180-ton tanker when the accident occurred. The ship previously belonged to Mobil Oil Corp., of New York under the name of Mobil Apex, but was bought by Norwegian shipowner Svend Foyn Bruun of Toensberg after an explosion near Puerto Rico.

Odorless carbon dioxide often is used to quell ship fires.

Staging Areas In 'Safe Zone' North Of DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. reconnaissance jets have detected an extensive buildup of war materials in the southern provinces of North Vietnam awaiting shipment to Cambodia and South Vietnam, Air Force Secretary Robert C. Seamans said today.

Concluding a three-day inspection visit to Vietnam, Seamans said American bombers have stepped up raids along 20 miles of the Ho Chi Minh trail through southeastern Laos. However, he said that to the best of his knowledge U.S. planes were not attacking the staging areas in North Vietnam.

The United States halted all offensive bombing of North Vietnam Nov. 1, 1968, but has continued reconnaissance flights over the North.

"This is a very, very crucial time for air war," Seamans said. "As a result of the Cambodian invasion, a large number of supplies were wiped out."

"For that reason, the North Vietnamese, to continue to operate in South Vietnam as well as Cambodia, must get in a major increase in ammunition and other supplies. They don't have this year the alternative of using the ports in Cambodia . . .

"So far we haven't seen enough to really know what is going to happen. The North Vietnamese have been severely hampered up to now by very heavy rains so we're just at the beginning of a critical period. I think it's too soon to try to make a projection as to what is going

Ohio Demos Gain Leverage Despite Assembly Minority

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — While Republicans will control the 109th Ohio General Assembly, Democrats will have some bargaining power.

They will have Democratic Gov.-elect John J. Gilligan's veto and 32 control of the re-apportionment board, which will draw new lines for congressional districts.

A two-thirds majority, or a minimum of 66 votes in the House and 22 in the Senate, would be required to override a veto. The GOP will have margins of 54-45 and 20-13 in the two chambers.

Gilligan could kill Republican legislation, including a GOP-backed reapportionment bill, if legislators are not willing to make some deals on his programs.

Republicans lost one Senate and 10 House seats in Tuesday's election.

The Senate loss occurred when one-term Sen. John W. E. Bowen of Franklin County was defeated by Jerry O'Shaughnessy.

Among House members going down in defeat were two veterans, Rep. Ralph Fisher of Wooster, chairman of the House Finance Committee, and Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon. Fisher served for 24 straight years and Wetzel was elected 11 times, although not consecutively.

While all of the Republican legislative leaders are returning, Democrats are expected to battle for minority leadership posts.

Senate Minority Leader Charles F. Carney was elected to Congress and House Minority Leader John C. McDonald did not seek re-election to make an unsuccessful bid for attorney general in the primary.

Likely candidates for the Senate posts are William B. Nye of Akron, Anthony O. Calabrese of Cleveland and Oliver Ocasek of Akron.

In the House, Rep. Myrl Shoemaker of Bourneville in Ross County said he will seek the minority leadership. He can expect some competition from A. G. Lancione of Bellaire, who held the post before; Patrick A. Sweeney and Anthony Russo, both of Cleveland, and David Healdy of Barboursburg.

Senate Republicans will have to fill a vacancy created by the election of Sen. Walter Powell of Fairfield to Congress, U.S. Rep. Donald E. Lukens, R-Ohio, who did not seek re-election to run unsuccessfully for the party's gubernatorial nomination, is considered a possible candidate for the appointment.

Modified Agency Shop Illegal, Brown Declares

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Atty. Gen. Paul Brown has advised Ohio University and union officials here that a proposed modified agency shop is not acceptable and contrary to Ohio laws.

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Union local has been negotiating with the university on a new agreement. A modified agency shop is one of the demands being made by union officials.

Replying to a request for his opinion, the attorney general said the proposal to have all future employees pay union dues as a condition of employment irrespective of their authorization "is unacceptable." He added:

"A modified agency shop provision flies in the face of the Ohio Constitution and Civil Service laws in that it would impose a condition of employment on public employees which is not contemplated or allowed by said laws. The university may not enter into an agreement on a modified agency shop provision."

AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have defied off-year election tradition, but Democrats gained statehouse political muscle—and the near deadlock of a bitter Senate battle in Indiana symbolized today the split decision returned by America's voters.

Democrats called the verdict a defeat for the administration. President Nixon declared his hand has been "enormously strengthened" on defense and foreign policy by changes in the Senate.

Republicans managed a mid-term gain in the Senate, picking up two seats, with the Indiana outcome still in doubt. With Democrats and Republicans each likely to have the support of one-third party or independent election victor, the Senate lineup stood at 54 Democrats, 45 Republicans.

It was the fifth time in this century the party of a President has won Senate seats in an off-year election.

Democrats posted an eight-seat House gain—smaller than history's pattern—with one race still in doubt. The lineup there: 254 Democrats, 180 Republicans. Most of the gains were in the Midwest.

It was the ninth straight election in which Democrats had captured control of both Senate and House.

Democrats took over 13 Republican governorships, among them three of the 10 most populous states in the nation—Pennsylvania, Ohio and Florida.

They lost two, Tennessee and Connecticut, to Republicans.

Three states remained in doubt: Maine and Rhode Island, where Democratic incumbents held narrow leads, and Michigan, where the Republican governor was ahead.

In the Indiana Senate race, a focus of Republican law-and-order campaigning, Democratic Sen. Vance Hartke held a slender and inconclusive lead over Rep. Richard L. Roudebush, a conservative who once was national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A recount was likely. Absentee ballots were put under guard; voting machines were locked; ballot boxes impounded.

Hartke's unofficial margin was 3,690 votes but the Indiana outcome may be in doubt for weeks.

In Tennessee, Rep. William E. Brock III ousted Democratic Sen. Albert Gore, a key administration target; in Connecticut, Rep. Lowell P. Weicker Jr. won a three-way contest for the

Pickaway SCS District Holds Annual Meeting

The Pickaway County Soil and Water Conservation District observed its 25th anniversary Wednesday during the annual meeting held at Westfall High School.

H. M. (Pete) Everhart, Route 3, was elected to the board of supervisors, replacing Frank Graves, Kingston, who had been a member for 14 years.

Norman Golden, Route 4, manager of G & H Research Farms, was presented the Goodyear Conservation Award for outstanding conservation practices implemented on his farms. Also recognized were Terry Rogers and Vanessa Mills, who won district science fair awards presented by Federal Land Bank.

Betty Jo Bolender and Lew Trapp were recognized as the two county 4-H club members who attended the Conservation Camp through the sponsorship of the local soil and water district.

THE Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District was organized Dec. 9, 1944, under the guidance of Pearl Fogle of the Soil Conservation Service and the late Kelsey Blair, then Pickaway County Agricultural Extension agent. In April, 1945, the district was approved by a referendum vote of the people of the county and became the 32nd district in Ohio.

Members of the first board of supervisors were: the late Frank Beatty, Stewart Beers, Wayne Brown, Lawrence Liston and the late Ralph May.

The first major objective of the district was to secure technical help. John L. Shriver, area conservationist; the late James A. Muster, district conservationist; and Martin Sharrett, conservation technician were assigned to the district.

Don Archer is the district conservationist today. He has been associated with the soil conservation service for 20 years. Robert Bower and Warren Spangler are the technicians and Oive Neff the office secretary.

Programs which have been promoted during the past 25 years include air tours, the annual conservation tour, soil survey that is now being conducted, conservation camp, education, fair display, field day, queen of the furrow contest, Soil Savers 4-H Club and many others.

Technical work accomplished in the past 25 years includes 132,060 feet of diversion ditches, 435 ponds, 390 acres of grass waterways, 25,500 acres of minimum tillage, 481,985 feet of open ditches, 5,119 acres of pasture and hayland plantings, 5,479,657 feet of tile drainage, 369 acres of tree planting and 984 acres of wildlife habitat plantings.

THE district has 671 cooperators with 78,319 acres under conservation plan. The district has additionally served 229 persons who have not signed cooperative agreements.

The speaker at last night's meeting was Bob Miller, a director of agricultural activities for AVCO broadcasting Corporation.

GOP; in Maryland, Rep. J. Glenn Beall Jr. upset Democratic Sen. Joseph D. Tydings; in Ohio, Rep. Robert Taft Jr. took over a Democratic Senate seat.

In Illinois, Adlai E. Stevenson III defeated Republican Sen. Ralph T. Smith; in California, Rep. John V. Tunney trounced GOP Sen. George Murphy.

Democrats successfully defended 19 Senate seats, and Sen. Harry F. Byrd, a Democrat, was re-elected as an independent in Virginia.

Republicans held seven GOP seats James L. Buckley, a registered Republican, was elected as a Conservative in New York.

Democrats scored significant gains in the less publicized arena of the state legislatures, which will design new congressional districts to match the population figures of the 1970 census.

Federal court rulings restrict the gerrymander, the old-fashioned way of shaping a congressional district to guarantee victory for one party. But that doesn't mean a party in command of a state government cannot draw district boundaries that will favor its congressional candidates.

In California, due to gain five House seats. Democrats overturned Republican majorities in both houses of the legislature.

Democrats made legislative gains in Pennsylvania, gained splits in Wisconsin, Utah and, apparently, Illinois.

Republican strategists had hoped redistricting, and Nixon's re-election coalition, would give them a good chance at capturing House control in 1972.

That prospect has dwindled. Democratic governors will be in charge in at least 27 states.

In Maine, Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis was on a ticket led by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, a landslide victor who had hoped to prove his coalition strength as part of the buildup to a 1972 presidential campaign. Curtis was narrowly leading James S. Erwin, the Republican attorney general. Erwin requested a recount.

Muskie won re-election with 62 per cent of the Maine vote. He said Wednesday he has not decided whether to seek the Democratic presidential nomination—although all the evidence is that he is already doing so.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence P. O'Brien said Muskie is the front-runner for White House nomination, but maintained the Democratic field is wide open.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, who said after his involvement in the fatal automobile accident on Chappaquiddick Island that he would not run for president in 1972, won re-election in a 63 per cent landslide.

Hubert Humphrey rolled up 59 per cent of the Minnesota vote in winning election to return to the Senate.

The Democratic gubernatorial victories gave the party a significant base for 1972, an organizational—and financial—starting point for a White House challenge.

Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, the House majority leader who will become speaker in January, said the Democratic pickup in the House "gave us a shot of confidence. I think we can field a ticket that can win in 1972."

"There is a revolt against this administration throughout the heartland of this nation," O'Brien said.

"We have done very well," Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, the Republicans' chief—and controversial—campaigner through much of the season.

In San Clemente, Calif., Nixon, who waged an off-year campaign unprecedented in its scope, said the Senate outcome was most important to him. He said it means he can "speak with a much stronger voice" in defense and foreign affairs.

Nixon did not explain how he calculated what he said was "a working majority of four in the Senate" on those issues.

But Agnew had pointed earlier to the election of Lloyd M. Bentsen, a conservative Democrat, to succeed a Democratic liberal in Texas, and to election of Buckley in New York, as evidence of added support on ideological lines.

Nixon said he was sending out notes of congratulation and condolence to winners and losers, especially in the 23 states where he campaigned.

And, for losers everywhere, Nixon had a word of comfort. He said they will be "stronger men as a result of the loss, if they don't let the losses get them down."

Marilyn Coffland Semifinalist In Merit Tests

Marilyn S. Coffland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Coffland, Montgomery City, Mo., has been named as a semifinalist in the 1970-71 National Merit Scholarship Program.

The Cofflands are former residents of Circleville. Grandparents of Marilyn are Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Lanman, 228 E. Main St. and Leonard E. Coffland, 225 Town St.

Miss Coffland will compete for one of about 3,000 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1971. During the next few months semifinalists will be tested and screened. The finalist will be announced next year when a $1,000 one year scholarship and a four year renewable scholarship will be presented.

Along with her scholastic accomplishments, Miss Coffland is a member of the double girl's sextette at the Montgomery County High School.

Hunter Fined $50 For Too Many Ducks

William A. Hill, 816 S. Washington St., was fined $50 and costs with $25 of the fine suspended for having more than the limit of wood ducks in his possession.

Hill was cited into court by Richard Pierce, game protector and entered a plea of guilty.

Louis Barge, Mobile, Ala., was handed a suspended $100 fine for soliciting for magazine sales illegally within the city.

Carol Combs, Lebanon, was fined $50 and costs for issuing a bad check in the amount of $15 to Kroger Co., and was bound to the Grand Jury under $1,500 bond for issuing a bad check in the amount of $50 to Buckeye Mart.

Oil Representative Is Sertoma Speaker

The guest speaker at Wednesday's noon luncheon meeting of the Circleville Sertoma Club was Jack Morrison of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio.

He spoke on pollution and how his firm's new non-leaded gasoline will help to curb the problem. Morrison also spoke about tires, explaining the different types and tread patterns and the riding characteristics of each.

Shelby Residents Rap Phone Rates

SIDNEY, Ohio (AP) — Petitions signed by 500 Shelby County residents to protest mileage assessments by the United Telephone Co. were to be filed today with the Public Utilities Commission in Columbus.

According to the complaint, some residential customers are paying as much as $40 per month for phone service under a rate structure that went into effect Oct. 1. It established a rate per quarter mile from the main exchange ranging from 60 cents to $1.

Ohio GOP . . .

Republicans maintained control of the General Assembly, although losing 10 seats in the House and one in the Senate. The GOP majority in the House now is 54-45 and in the upper chamber 20-13.

Voters also elected four Republicans to the Ohio Supreme Court.

Taft defeated Democrat Howard Metzenbaum of Cleveland by a slim 70,000 votes to climax a hard-fought campaign conducted primarily on national issues.

The moderate Taft supported Nixon administration policies, while Metzenbaum, a liberal, called for a quick U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam, more funds for domestic programs and less spending abroad and on space research.

In a victory statement, Taft said he would try to find solutions to the nation's problems and to "bridge and heal differences and divisions among us."

Metzenbaum, conceding defeat Wednesday morning, said he would remain active in politics but did not expect to run for public office again.

Whether Gili's victory can be considered a mandate for the state income tax he proposed is subject to argument, but heavy voter rejection of school levies around the state indicated their desire for tax reform.

"We are extremely distressed . . . that only 28 per cent of the requests for new local property taxes for school purposes were approved," said Dr. Stayner F. Brighton, executive secretary of the Ohio Education Association.

The negative response makes it quite clear that the property tax is dead as the base to finance school improvements," he said. "It is equally clear that Ohio must shift the school finance base to an income-related system."

The Children's Corner

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pickaway County Public Library has a section devoted to books for children. Volumes recently added to the Children's Library are reviewed here.

There is only one week left before the close of the library's contest to name its children's department. All elementary school children are eligible, and the winner will receive a book from the library, plus a twenty-five dollar check presented by E. R. Bennett, Realtor. Suggestions for entries include children's authors, favorite characters, and other catchy names of literary reference. These prizes are well worth a little thought, and it is hoped that Pickaway County boys and girls will submit some clever ideas.

Secret Service Makes Report On Stoning

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — The Secret Service has exhibited dents in President Nixon's limousine as proof that it was the target of a barrage by anti-war demonstrators during his appearance in San Jose Calif.

Lilburn E. Boggs, assistant director of the Secret Service for protective forces, said Tuesday the visible damage "could only have been caused by rocks or other hard objects."

Arthur Godfrey, deputy special agent in charge of presidential protection, said that at a guess the vehicle was hit 10 times while running a gauntlet of missile-throwing dissidents.

Following statements that report of the violence were exaggerated, the Secret Service took a group of newsmen to the Western White House and asked them to inspect the vehicle which came under attack on Thursday night following a speech by the President.

The inspection showed the limousine was marred or dented in several places.

San Jose Police Chief Ray Blackmore had said Monday the President never was in danger, only a few rocks were thrown and reports of the violence had been exaggerated.

Elaborating Tuesday, Blackmore said, "I was in the lead car and it wasn't hit. The President was in the second car right behind me and I have verified that it was hit several times and had to be repaired."

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler issued a statement in which he said, "published and broadcast reports of the incident were in no way exaggerated."

"It was a serious and unfortunate incident that I personally hope never would occur again around the President of the United States and those accompanying him."

"Settlers on a Strange Shore" is one of the Frontiers of America books. It tells about the French, the Spaniards, Roanoke Island, and Plymouth Colony. A map, drawn in 1630, serves as its frontispiece.

For the younger children there are "The Naughty Little Pilgrim", "The Pilgrims' Party," "Thanksgiving Day," and "The Pumpkin Patch."

Fiction for older boys and girls includes "The First Thanksgiving", "Pilgrim Kate," and "The Thanksgiving Story."

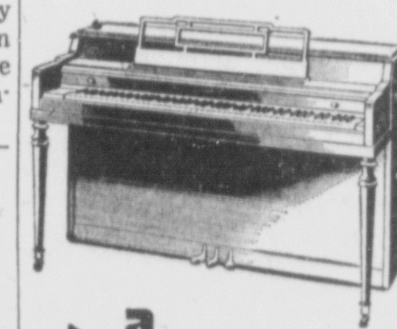

OEA Claims School Defeats 'Disastrous'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Voters approved only 28 per cent of the new school tax issues on the ballot Tuesday, and the Ohio Education Association immediately termed the balloting "the most disastrous election in school history."

Complete, but unofficial, returns gathered by the OEA's research division showed that only 68 new operating levies out of 243 were approved by Ohio voters.

The previous low at a November general election was last year, when only 44 per cent of the new school money issues passed.

The survey disclosed that school construction bond issues fared even worse—only 14 of 61 passed, 23 per cent.

Principle Worth More

A 59-year-old Mitchell, Ind., businesswoman has found that standing on principle can be a costly experience. Mrs. James Barrett deserves credit for remaining resolute nevertheless, even in the face of blind justice.

Mrs. Barrett had put a dime in a parking meter which accepted only pennies and nickels. When she received a ticket for overtime parking, she refused to pay the fine. When brought before a judge, Mrs. Barrett explained:

"I know in my heart and you know in your heart that I am not guilty of overtime parking. That I put into that parking meter a dime, the equivalent of ten cents or two nickels, and didn't park for the full amount of time — two hours, which that money paid for."

Unrelenting, the judge increased her original fine. Mrs. Barrett still refused to pay, whereupon she was sentenced to seven days in jail.

Mechanical justice may have ruled that courtroom, but Mrs. Barrett has won the sympathy of the public.

Modified Apartheid

By JEFFREY HART

Replying irritably to the busing arguments of a civil rights lawyer, Justice Hugo Black recently remarked: "You people are trying to rearrange the whole country."

Indeed. And yet the irritated perception of the liberal Justice may give us grounds for guarded optimism. It is surely a symptom of the invincible fatuity of American liberalism that even as we debate endlessly about racial integration, and muse upon the best means of achieving that blessed state, the whole idea of integration is in fact quite dead. For while the Supreme Court, Laocoon-like, struggles in the toils of its own glosses on "Brown vs. the Board of Education," spinning out scholastic subtleties about busing, about how many miles it is proper to bus, about what racial "balance" is desirable in the fourth grade in some school in Podunk, while the Court goes through this entire fantastic process, experience is teaching us that integrated schools are re-segregated again faster than you can say Earl Warren.

The judicial metaphysicians, fastening upon this phrase or that in the Constitution, have utterly forgotten the goal of that document as set forth clearly in the Preamble — where, you will notice, the need to "insure domestic tranquility" is given equal syntactical weight with the need to "establish justice." The Constitution is a masterly establishing a workable system for imperfect men; in the last ten years we have striven mightily to turn it into a Pandora's Box of moral absolutes.

Really, however, has a way of breaking in, and the Negro destiny in America seems quite definitely to be taking two distinct forms, neither of them recognizable as "integration."

The first and more traditional route is the "ethnic" one. The various American ethnic groups have each struck a kind of bargain with the rest of American society, often, indeed, entailing a good deal of separatism. The variations have been numerous. A member of group "A" may work downtown with other groups, but he goes home to a neighborhood where group "A" is completely dominant. A member of group "B," in contrast, may enter an occupation or a firm which, by tacit agreement, has been reserved for group "B."

A substantial number of Negroes are working out their bargain in these terms, mixing separation and cooperation in some empirical rather than principled modus vivendi. In New York, for example, several of the established labor unions are in the process of becoming, in effect, Negro unions.

But another substantial body of Negroes seems destined to become what can only be called a nation, or at least a quasi-nation, which will encyst itself within the larger national entity. The entire movement of "black culture" in recent years — black power, black is beautiful, black studies, Afro styles, etc. — points not toward the traditional ethnic bargain but to a sort of de facto apartheid.

Nor do the doctrines and attitudes of black nationalism exist in a vacuum. Already a number of cities are substantially black "territories" and in large parts of a great many other cities, the ordinary writ simply no longer runs — as in much of Harlem, for example. It is therefore only a question of time before the black nationalists begin to contrive a substitute writ. In a de facto way, which could later become de jure, the nationalists are quite capable of collecting taxes, administering justice, issuing permits to taxis and to white businesses that will guarantee security and so forth. The nationalists clearly desire to staff and administer their own schools.

Such a development would surely be a novel one in American demography, but it might work, it might provide a modus vivendi. Anyway, it seems a much more likely development than widespread homogenization via liberal "integration."

Mayor Lindsay, may I introduce you to Prime Minister Vorster

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — About half the television viewers of the nation were burning midnight oil Tuesday watching election returns. NBC thoughtfully booked some light entertainment early Wednesday evening to balance things off.

"The Men from Shiloh" had all sorts of help from guest star Greer Garson with a 90-minute comedy. Then followed that most relaxing of all television extravaganzas, an ice show.

Except for an occasional appearance on a variety show and those feature film rebroadcasts, Miss Garson has been a stranger to television. Her first dramatic role, in one of Doug McClure's "Shiloh" segments, was a woman lawyer using her feminine charms in a manner that must have brought jeers from any women's lib ladies watching.

The story began in the familiar Western fashion: Trampas—McClure's long-playing cowboy role—won a gold mine in a bar room poker game in a small town, then was arrested for the murder of the loser.

Attorney for the defense turned out to be an elegant lady from the East whose methods, while unorthodox, got Trampas acquitted in time for the final commercial and undoubtedly started some studio vice president dreaming about spinning off Miss Garson and her character in a series.

The story was done lightly and at no time did anyone think Trampas was in danger. Miss Garson had some excellent help, with E. G. Marshall playing a susceptible judge and James Whitmore a stony faced but cooperative marshal.

"Highlights from the 1971 Ice Capades" which followed was an eye-filling, ear-filling program that made no demands on the viewer.

It was like all the others, from the solo star swooping and darting to the comedy skating chimp. This time David Janssen was the host and managed to skate from one end of the rink to another without wobbling much. Florence Henderson, resolutely keeping off the ice, added some vocal solos.

The zodiac theme provided an excuse for some stilted dialogue and some very handsome costumes.

In television's most recent election—the Nielsen ratings for the week ending Oct. 25—the big winner was once again ABC's "Marcus Welby, M.D." followed by NBC's "Flip Wilson Show." NBC's "Ironside" ranked third, followed by ABC's "Movie of the Week," and CBS's "Gunsmoke" and "Hawaii Five-O," tied for fifth.

MRS. RICK L. WITHERS

The Church of God was the setting for the marriage of Miss Terry Linn Knece and Mr. Rick L. Withers. Rev. Fred Mercer performed the double ring ceremony 6:30 p.m. Sept. 18 before the altar enhanced with baskets of lavender, pink and white gladioli and mums at each side flanked with candles. Pink and white bows marked the pews.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Knece, Route 1, Stoutsville and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Withers, 566 E. Franklin St. A program of nuptial selections was presented by Mrs. Lucille Kirkwood.

The skirt flowed gracefully to fullness in the back forming a brief train. A crown encrusted with seed pearls held her elbow length veil and she carried an arrangement of pink rosebuds and fern with satin bows and streamers.

Maid of honor was Miss Debra Hanley in a soft green floor length gown featuring an empire bodice and white trimming. She carried a bouquet of yellow mums and pink rosebuds. Bridesmaids were Miss Brenda Winner and Miss September Young, cousins of the bride. They were dressed as the maid of honor in light blue and carried matching bouquets. Environmental Issues Gain Mixed Response In Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — An incumbent governor who supported a proposal to allow mining in an untouched wilderness lost a bid for reelection. The son of a giant chemical firm which was recently fined for pollution won a seat in Congress.

The races decided Tuesday in Idaho and Delaware were among several in the nation that provided an ever-so-tentative test of the environment as a campaign issue.

In few places did any clear-cut lessons emerge for the nation's political leaders, many of whom see the environment as a major national issue in the 1972 presidential elections, particularly in Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, as a candidate.

Muskie, among the first of the nation's major political figures to identify himself with environmentalism, won reelection easily Tuesday.

In Idaho, Republican Gov.

Don Samuelson, in his campaign against former Gov. Cecil Andrus, a Democrat, contended the environment could be protected and that a deposit of molybdenum found in the wilderness of the White Cloud Mountains should be exploited for needed income.

Andrus rejected Samuelson's position and came out against any commercial exploitation of the mineral.

In Delaware, Pierre S. duPont IV won election to Delaware's only House seat after publicly ridiculing recent pollution fines against his own company as being far too low.

John D. Daniello, duPont's Democratic opponent, had called for tax penalties as well as fines against industrial polluters. DuPont, a Republican, favored tax incentives to encourage industry to check pollution.

Opponents hammered away on the pollution control records of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and California Gov. Ronald Reagan, both Republicans. Both won easily.

Environmental politics were used against Sen. George Murphy of California and Sen. Ralph T. Smith of Illinois, both Republicans. Both lost.

The outcomes were almost as mixed in the sprinkling of environmental referenda held across the nation.

In general, voters showed they were willing to spend more money to curb pollution. But they were highly selective.

Jane Fonda Out On Bond; Raps 'Big Brother'

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Actress Jane Fonda said Wednesday night she believes she is on "a list of people to be watched" and that she never experienced difficulty traveling until she started anti-war lectures.

Miss Fonda is free on bond following her arrest in Cleveland Tuesday on charges of assaulting a policeman and a customs agent and smuggling pills into the United States.

The actress told 4,500 persons at Bowling Green State University "We must prepare ourselves, organize into small political units, and make specific demands...to win back this country."

She cited specifically abolition of ROTC on campus and acts of "terrorism" by police.

Foreigners See Election As Loss For Nixon

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Some European newspaper commentators today viewed the outcome of the U.S. election as a standoff for the Republicans and the Democrats. Others considered it a setback for President Nixon.

"The contest ended a draw, as the pollsters predicted," said Paris' conservative Le Figaro. "America, face to face with its terrible problems, didn't really make a move."

"If, as President Nixon maintains, there really is a silent majority backing up his position, ... it still has not seized the occasion to express itself clearly."

Undecided Races Noted In 5 States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Here's a rundown on Congress and gubernatorial races still undecided after Tuesday's elections:

SENATE
Indiana—With all but three precincts reported, Democratic Sen. Vance Hartke leads Republican Rep. Richard L. Roudebush by 3,698 votes. A recount is expected, final result might not be known for weeks.

HOUSE
Kentucky—Democratic challenger Romano Mazzoli holds an unofficial 114-vote edge over incumbent Republican Rep. William O. Cowger in the 3rd District. All precincts have reported, but the count does not include 733 absentee ballots.

GOVERNORSHIPS
Michigan—With 92 per cent of the state's precincts counted, Republican Gov. William G. Milliken leads Democratic state Sen. Sander Levin by 88,587 votes.

Maine — Democratic Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis leads Republican Atty. Gen. James S. Erwin by 702 votes in complete, unofficial returns. A recount gets under way Nov. 23.

Rhode Island—Democratic Gov. Frank Licht leads Republican Herbert F. DeSimone by 2,710 votes. About 7,550 absentee votes must be tabulated and the machine vote recounted; the winner might not be known for a week or 10 days.

Rome's Il Popolo, the organ of the ruling Christian Democrats, also found the results inconclusive. It said the election "justifies neither the Republican claims of victory in defeating antiadministration senators, nor the Democrats' hopes that American voters have repudiated the 'politics of fear.'"

Sweden's conservative Svenska Dagbladet and liberal Dagens Nyheter, both called the outcome a defeat for the President.

Svenska Dagbladet said it was the worst campaign in U.S. history and that "the gigantic problems in the country were not mentioned—only law and order." Dagens Nyheter said the President had suffered both a moral and a political defeat and the Democrats had improved their chances for 1972.

Denmark's conservative Berlingske Tidende commented: "Mr. Nixon wanted to mobilize the silent majority by stressing the nationwide problems of law and order. He did not succeed. The majority kept quiet by staying at home."

L'Unita, published by the Italian Communist party, headlined its story "Grave Defeat for Nixon."

One winner, according to the conservative London Daily Mail, was American democracy.

"Despite all the talk of crazy swings and vicious tactics," it said, "the American voter has kept his feet on the ground and his eyes on the candidates themselves."

"When in doubt, go for the

The conservative Daily Telegraph took a swipe at Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, asserting that the Democrats "appear almost totally lacking at the moment in leadership of the kind which a great party deserves."

"With so much at stake in America itself, it is not enough to look and sound like a 'nice guy,' which, for those who saw him on British television, must have been about all that Sen. Muskie appeared to be."

U.S. Division Likely To End Duty In Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — A United States Army Division that now guards about 18 miles of the Korean demilitarized zone, probably will be pulled back and put in reserve when American forces are reduced in South Korea, Pentagon sources say.

The reduction of U.S. forces in the Republic of Korea will begin around mid 1971, when some 20,000 men are to be cut from the 62,000-man garrison.

Details of the withdrawal are still being talked over with the Seoul government, but it's expected one division of the two now in Korea will be pulled out slowly. The remaining infantry division will take up a reserve position, and the South Korean Army will move into the 18-mile stretch, sources indicated.

This plan has been favored by U.S. planners since the withdrawal came under discussion earlier this year. An alternative proposal to keep smaller American units on the line fronting North Korea has not been resolved.

Taft Carries On Family Tradition

By JOE MCKNIGHT
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Robert Taft Jr., banked on a famous name, wealth and organization in winning a U.S. Senate seat from Ohio and the right to carry on family tradition.

The Republican administration has a staunch friend in the personable Taft, who ran a tight campaign and came out a close winner over Democrat Howard Metzenbaum.

Taft, 53, is the son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, respected on both sides of the Senate aisle as "Mr. Republican."

His grandfather was President William Howard Taft.

The senator-elect is well established in his own right as a politician, having served four terms in the Ohio Legislature and three terms in the U.S. House.

Taft found the second time was the charm in winning election to the Senate. He ran against incumbent Stephen M. Young in 1964, carried 66 of Ohio's 88 counties, but lost by less than 17,000 votes of 3.8 million cast.

Taft was born in Cincinnati, earned a bachelor's degree from Yale and a law degree from Harvard before he entered the Navy in World War II.

In four years on active duty he saw service in the Atlantic and Pacific as well as the Mediterranean Theater before being discharged in 46.

COMMON PLEAS COURT PROBATE DIVISION

No. 25763 Marvin Steely and Robert A. Scott, Executors of the estate of Kathleen Scott, deceased. And that said inventories and appraisements will be for hearing and settlement before the Court on Monday, November 18, 1970 at 9 o'clock A.M. Exceptions to said inventories, if any, must be filed on or before November 10, 1970. Taft backed away from a Senate race two years ago when veteran Sen. Frank J. Lausche lost in the primary and his seat eventually went to Republican William B. Saxbe.

Democrat Lausche endorsed Taft this time and worked for his election.

He used an affable manner, the Taft grin made famous by his father and a highly professional organization to full advantage in making this bid a successful one.

He kept the campaign aimed at national and international issues and studiously avoided state-level politics although he did appear with lower-echelon candidates.

Even so, it took all the acumen he could muster, plus a boost from President Nixon and daughter Tricia, several cabinet members and prominent friends in Congress, who spoke in Taft's behalf in Ohio.

Taft gave the national administration his full support, endorsing Nixon's Vietnam, national and international policies. He said early in the campaign senators should have no personal financial secrets and announced his personal wealth at more than $2 million. His invitation for his opponent to match the disclosure was declined.

Taft referred to himself in the campaign as "a general practitioner in legislation" and implied a heritage to public office.

Loss Of Governorships Hurts Republicans Most

WASHINGTON (AP) — In simple numbers, and in states where state house control adds clout for the 1972 presidential drive, it was Democrats nearly all the way Tuesday.

They ousted at least 12 Republicans from governorships, while giving up only two. The turn in Democratic fortunes, after a steady decline in state house occupancy in the 60s, was the most dramatic development in the election.

Republicans went into the voting with a 32-18 edge.

The governorships of California and New York, the biggest trophies in the bag, eluded the Democrats. But they scored important victories in the other big states: Ohio, Florida, Minnesota, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin, all previously in Republican hands and all the recipients of campaign visits by President Nixon, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew—or both.

Republicans unseated Democrats only in Connecticut and Tennessee. Both were expected.

It was difficult to explain the Democratic success only in terms of the national campaign themes of the two parties. Local issues and personalities often overrode the Republican law and order thrust as well as the economic emphasis of the Democrats.

In early morning, with a few governorships still undecided, the results of Tuesday's elections looked like this:

Democrats: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Kansas, Maryland, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Wisconsin.

Republicans: Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Iowa, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, Oregon, Tennessee, Vermont and Wyoming.

The outcome of the Michigan election had been clouded by vote-count problems in Detroit. Rhode Island's election was so close that 7,500 absentee ballots had to be counted. Maine had a tight race and the count in Alaska was slow.

"Tonight, we find the Democratic party a majority party in America," said Lawrence F. O'Brien, the Democratic national chairman. The gain in governorships, he said, will give Democrats "equity in redistricting" congressional districts in wake of the 1970 census.

Controlling the state house is extremely important in gearing up a presidential campaign. It means power in official appointments—creating party machinery—in raising funds and in prestige.

Herb Klein, the President's director of communications, said in San Clemente, Calif., that "I think we can honestly say we would like to have done better ... in the governorships."

Proposal To Lower Voting Age Nixed In Most States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposals to lower the voting age were rejected in most of the 15 states where the question was on the ballot Tuesday. And while Texans voted to permit saloons to reopen, Kansans voiced a resounding "no."

There were at least 400 such special measures on the ballots in 45 states and the other results—without the vote count complete—included these key ones:

—Massachusetts voters supported President Nixon's planned withdrawal from Vietnam over alternatives of immediate withdrawal or a drive for a military victory.

—Virginians by a close vote removed a ban on lotteries from their state constitution opening up the way for possible horse racing and pari-mutuel betting. But Arizona voters turned down a lottery proposition.

—Washington state voters approved a measure to legalize abortions performed by licensed physicians in accredited hospitals or other medical facilities.

—Marylanders approved a constitutional amendment to permit voluntary prayers in public schools. In Nebraska a proposal to permit state aid to private and parochial schools was rejected. Michigan voters were approving a ban on paying salaries of parochial school teachers.

With the vote count incomplete it appeared that Maine and Nebraska approved of lowering the voting age from 21 to 20. Montana and Massachusetts to lower it to 19 and Alaska to drop it from 19 to 18.

But voters in Washington, Colorado, Wyoming, South Dakota, New Jersey and Minnesota apparently voted against lowering it to 19 and Connecticut, Florida, Michigan and Hawaii voted down proposals for an 18-year-old vote.

Despite recent voter reluctance to new bond issues several big ones were accepted notably those tied to antipollution campaigns. The biggest was a $750-million bond issue overwhelmingly approved in Illinois for local sewage disposal systems.

And Florida voters agreed to increase the amount of money available to clean up sewage treatment by allowing the state to pledge its support to bond issues for construction of waste treatment facilities. Another measure approved in Florida guarantees that state-owned lands will be sold only in the public interest.

Rhode Island voters approved five bond issues and an environmental "bill of rights."

But Washington state voters rejected an anti-littering measure—an initiative to require a five-cent deposit on bottles and beer cans.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Let Son Lead His Own Life

DEAR ABBY: Our son, 19, attended a boys' high school and never dated until he went to college. As a college freshman he met a girl and they became engaged. She is a year older than he, is of another faith, and she is an invalid, having had spinal surgery at age 13. She needs help to walk, and her coordination is poor.

Our son invited her to our home for a few days. (She lives 300 miles away.) It was heart-breaking! The poor girl made her bed to the best of her ability, but it looked like the work of a child. She left fingerprints on the walls where she had tried to get around, unassisted.

We've explained to our son that he will have a hard time getting insurance and hospitalization—that she will always need a full-time maid, and she is incapable of caring for a baby, if indeed she could ever bear one.

We've told our son that we will see him through college, while he is still single, but if he married in college, we'll not help him financially.

We love our son and don't want him to make a mistake he will regret all his life. Meanwhile, the girl's parents are encouraging this marriage. Would you recommend this marriage?

HIS PARENTS
DEAR PARENTS: The "marriage" may come off whether I recommend it or not. But I have a recommendation for you. Though I know you have your son's best interests at heart, it is his decision and his life, and even his "mistake" if that's what it turns out to be.

Don't point out the difficulties he will face should he marry this girl. (He's aware of them.) Your obvious disapproval of this choice would make him all the more determined to marry her just to prove you wrong.

DEAR ABBY: A man just can't win. Why is it that when I send my wife flowers for no special occasion, she looks at me funny and says, "Well, what have you done now?"

NOT GUILTY
DEAR NOT: She hasn't been properly trained. When she feels certain that your generosity was not prompted by a guilty conscience, she'll quit being suspicious. To "train" her—send her flowers more often.

DEAR ABBY: The letter about twin beds interested me because for 10 years my husband and I also slept "spoon style" and it was very comfortable—for him. He is 6'2" and I am 5'2" and I wasn't getting much bed, or much sleep.

Five years ago we bought twin beds and for the first year my husband hated it. Then we hit upon a good compromise. We pushed the twin beds together. That way we each have our own mattress and when one moves the other isn't disturbed.

Of course the bedroom doesn't look quite so attractive, but now we can hold hands when we go to sleep, and he can lean over and kiss me good night and we can get a good night's sleep.

I know I am much easier to get along with during the daytime if I've slept well and that's worth a lot!

Ex-Marine Charged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Marine Corps Wednesday charged a recently returned sergeant with desertion and aiding the enemy in Vietnam by making "pro-Communist and anti-American propaganda" while a prisoner.

The Marine Corps announced the filing of charges against Sgt. John M. Sweeney, 21, of West Babylon, N.Y. He returned voluntarily to the United States Aug. 31 from Sweden where he said at a news conference he had defected 18 months earlier after his company commander had shot at him and left him to die in the jungle.

In addition to the charge of aiding the enemy, Sweeney was accused of quitting his unit "with intent to avoid hazardous duty, namely ground combat against the enemy" and that he "did remain so absent in desertion" until Aug. 31, when he landed back in the United States.

A third charge alleged that Sweeney abandoned his rifle and ammunition "in the presence of the enemy."

A Marine Corps spokesman said the charges of aiding the enemy and abandoning his weapon in the presence of the enemy carries a possible death penalty. He said the other charge could result in a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a dishonorable discharge.

Social Security Answers

Q — When I apply for social security benefits, what information must I have to support my claim?

A — The information needed to support your claim depends upon the type of benefit you expect to receive. If your age is a factor of entitlement, as it would be for retirement or Medicare benefits, you must furnish evidence of your date of birth. This would be your birth or baptismal certificate if you have one. Other documents recorded early in your life also can be used. If relationship is involved (for example, in applying for dependent or survivor benefits), evidence of a marriage may be needed. Children's relationships can be established by birth certificates which record the parents' names. Proof of death is necessary to receive survivors benefit, and medical evidence is required in disability cases. Your social security office can help you in gathering information to support your claim.

Q — I was getting social security as the wife of a retired worker until I went back to work. Now I have worked enough to get retirement benefits on my own record. Can I collect as both a wife and a retired person?

A — Sorry, you can't get both benefits at the same time. But if the benefit based on your own earnings would be larger than the amount you'd collect as a wife, you would get this higher benefit.

Q — During the fall, I usually hire a maid and a woman to help me with the house cleaning. When must I report their wages?

A — If you pay your maid or your cleaning woman cash wages of $50 or more during a calendar quarter, you must report the wages and send the social security contributions to the Internal Revenue Service. This report should be made during the first month after the quarter in which the wages were paid. Get a copy of "Social Security and Your Household Employee" (SSI-21). From any social security office for more information on this subject.

GOP Keeps Ohio House In Grasp

By BILL ARMSTRONG
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democrats picked up 10 additional Ohio State House seats Tuesday.

Republicans maintained control of both houses, but their margins were trimmed by coattails of Democrat governor-elect John J. Gilligan.

In the 109th General Assembly which convenes in January, Republicans will have a nine-vote margin, 54-45, in the lower house and a five-vote edge, 19-14, in the Senate.

The GOP went into Tuesday's election with a 21-12 margin in the Senate and a 64-35 lead in the House.

Fifty votes — one more than half — are required to pass legislation in the House.

All 99 seats in the House, which are two-year terms, were up for election.

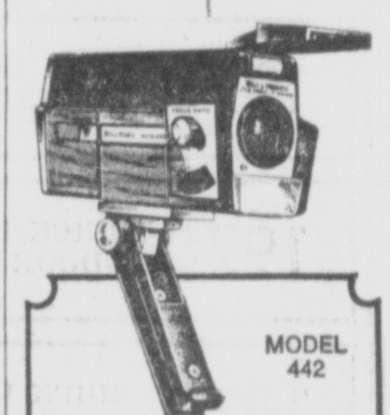

Republican dominance in the legislature means the party is assured of a strong voice in drawing reapportionment lines. New Congressional and legislative boundaries will be based on the 1970 census.

Q — I retired a few years ago and began receiving social security payments. Recently, I returned to work. Must I contribute to social security now?

A — Yes, if your job is covered by social security. And this is likely, because over 90 per cent of all jobs are covered. The contributions must be paid without regard to retirement status, age or whatever you are getting social security payments. An important point is that the contributions may increase the social security payment you will receive when you again stop working if your earnings are high enough.

Board Of Health Determines Policy

EDITOR'S NOTE —This is the ninth of a series of articles focusing on the work of each department and board which are necessary in the government of Circleville. In this article, the Board of Health, essentially the governing body for the city in health matters, is explained.

By MICHELE HULSE
Herald Staff Writer

Who actually determines policy concerning city health matters?

An explanation of this, quite involved, could lead to the answer that the voting citizens of a community make these decisions. Indirectly, this is true.

A city health district, covering all territory within the boundaries of the city, is both a political and physical district. Those persons who staff the Health Department are indirectly elected by the voter.

A citizen elects his local and at-large councilmen and casts his vote for mayor of the city. These offices determine membership of the Board of Health. The mayor makes appointments to the board, the actual governing body, with the approval of council.

BOARD members approve the appointment of the Health Commissioner, who recommends other Health Department staff members for employment. He needs board approval on his selections before they can be hired.

The Circleville City Health Board currently consists of a president, who is the mayor by virtue of his office, a president pro tempore, Mrs. George Barnes, and four other local citizens, Mrs. Tom McGuire and Dick Simson, Dr. Emily Lutz, Dr. E. W. Hedges, and secretary, Health Commissioner Paul Roan.

All members serve without pay. State statute determines this and that the mayor should be presiding head of the commission. It is a thankless job and little known by those not involved.

Wide powers are bestowed on the Health Board by Ohio legislation, empowering them to make and pass laws governing the city's health matters and uphold them.

In Circleville, manpower and resources are lacking to provide proper enforcement of laws they should pass. Therefore Health Board members normally give their approval on regulatory measures and send it in ordinance form to city council, requesting their vote on passage. When council okays this, the entire city is in cooperation with working toward this goal. Thus the board has enforcement manpower and backing of other departments without the added expense of employing persons for this job.

Absolute law is theirs when it comes to enforcement of food service regulations and unsafe practices by local industries. If a complaint is registered on a business or found by inspection, the management is warned to solve the problem. In a later check if nothing still has been done, a letter is issued ordering the officials to appear at the next board meeting. If the health nuisance is not cleared up, board members may vote to close the operation.

SEVERAL times letters have been sent to businesses in Circleville. These have been proven all that is finally necessary to make a business conform to health standards. Health Board members have control over hospital facilities and practices along with the county board as Berger is a city-county medical facility. They receive their reports from health department employees on junk areas, high weeds, improper and unsanitary situations, unsafe structures, and many other such complaints.

On such reports or upon viewing themselves as an unhealthful practice or situation within the city, they demand action. The board will not allow current health problems to exist and try to anticipate areas where they may exist before becoming actual and serious problems.

Cincy Vote Tabulation Does Better

CINCINNATI (AP) — Liquor on Sunday is now legal in Cincinnati, the first major Ohio city to take the step, but thirsty residents and convention goers will have to wait until Jan. 16 for their first legal Sunday drink.

Voters in Cincinnati and 30 suburban communities gave a firm nod to the issue Tuesday while seven others turned thumbs down.

Henry Ray, director of the Cincinnati District of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control, Permit Division, said Wednesday that state law forbids approving any new permits until the middle of January.

He said the law stipulates that no permit can be issued from November to January in a gubernatorial election year to prevent an outgoing administration approving a last minute flood of applications.

Permits will cost $100 and can be issued to hotels, restaurants, taverns, etc., but not to carry-out stores. The new law provides Sunday sales by the drink only.

Fate Of Agnew Still A Question Mark

By FRANK COIRMER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The political future of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew remains a question mark following what President Nixon has described as a Republican victory in Senate and House contests.

Some members of Nixon's inner circle remain divided on whether Agnew should be nominated for second place on the ticket in an expected Nixon bid for re-election in 1972. Some of Agnew's critics within the administration say they will be watching how the vice president conducts himself in the months immediately ahead.

The subject of Agnew's future was much-discussed in the closing days of the 1970 campaign, following publication of a report he might be supplanted two years hence by Rep. George Bush of Texas, provided Bush won his Senate race against Democrat Lloyd Bentsen.

Bush's loss to Bentsen has not ended speculation about Agnew's prospects. While it is true talk of "dumping" the vice president has been common to almost all recent administrations, at least some Nixon associates continue to have that question very much in mind.

Following Tuesday's balloting, Nixon limited his victory claim to Senate and House races "in which I have been campaigning." Talking briefly to newsmen Wednesday at the California White House before flying back to Washington, the chief executive made no mention of Agnew's more strenuous—and controversial—campaigning.

Herbert Klein, the administration's communications director, spoke to reporters Tuesday night about "a lot of criticism in terms of the vice president's role in the campaign."

However, Klein added that Nixon looks upon Agnew as the GOP campaigner who was out front where the heat was hottest and felt the vice president had been very effective on the stump.

In his post-election statement, Nixon claimed Republicans had gained "a working majority in both the House and the Senate for national defense and also for foreign policy."

He referred to the ideological attachments of members of the Social Aims Top Agenda For Ohio Church Council

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Formulation of social aims will be of primary concern when the Ohio Council of Churches opens its 52nd annual assembly here Monday with Roman Catholics voting as delegates for the first time.

Position papers on military service, sex education, poverty, pollution and drugs, among other issues, will serve as ecumenical guidelines for the council in the 1970s, said United Methodist Bishop Frances E. Keams, council president.

The 160 delegates from 17 denominations also will seat youth observers, receive the 11,000-member Christian Methodist Episcopal Church as a council member and join in a "Service of Affirmation" at the site of a proposed ecumenical center here.

Speaker at a Monday night banquet will be Dr. Elisha P. Murchison, Christian Methodist Episcopal Church bishop.

Hear Motion To Quash KSU Charges

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge William K. Thomas was to hear a motion today to quash the 25 indictments returned by a special state grand jury that investigated the violence at Kent State University last May.

Ten lawyers involved in the Kent State Legal Defense Coordinating Center filed the motion on behalf of 20 Kent State students, faculty members and others.

The suit asked that a three-judge federal court panel take up the constitutionality of Ohio's anti-riot laws and that prosecution on the indictments, returned Oct. 16, be stopped.

It also asked that the jury report be declared null and void. The suit complained that the report described students at Kent at the time of the violence as a "riotous mob." The statement included students who were not indicted.

The report, the suit said, described bystanders as "cheerleaders" who bore responsibility for shootings that resulted in the death of four students and the wounding of nine others in a confrontation with Ohio National Guard.

Guardsmen were exonerated in the report.

The suit accused jurors of trying to "harass" persons in the university, "whitewash" the national guardsmen and "impose...the moral and political views, and values ideals and standard of conduct" of the jurors.

Of the 25 persons indicted, 20 have been arrested.

Union Protests Plant Letter

CINCINNATI (AP) — Several thousand striking United Auto Workers, in a "show of unity" Tuesday, demonstrated in front of the Fisher Body plant in suburban Norwood to protest a letter from plant president A. F. Platt to the membership charging the UAW of refusing to bargain.

There are a total of 8,000 workers out in the 51-day national strike against Fisher and the adjoining Chevrolet plant in Norwood.

Richard Minton, president of Local 674 said Fisher Body would have to negotiate with the UAW bargaining committee and not the workers. He said Platt accused the bargaining committee of refusing to negotiate.

Democrats and Republicans are making victory claims "as is usually the case in an off-year election." He even bolstered the legitimacy of such a claim by Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien, saying O'Brien "with justification points to the fact that in state races his party picked up several governorships."

But then he went on to draw a distinction between these contests and "national races" in which he said he had campaigned. Actually, Nixon put in a good word for GOP gubernatorial candidates in all 23 states along his campaign route.

VETERANS DAY Nov. 11, first of the decade, is saluted with this famous photo made in February, 1945, showing U.S. Marines of the 5th Division's 28th Regiment raising Old Glory atop Mount Suribachi on Iwo Jima. It symbolizes the grit and triumph of the American soldier. The battle for Iwo was a bloody one. The U.S. had to take it so Japanese planes couldn't use it as a base to attack our bombing armadas. The Japanese defended it to the last man. By the end, March 16, the U.S. had lost 4,590 killed, the Japanese more than 20,000. In the battle, the U.S. used 495 ships, including 17 aircraft carriers with 1,170 planes; and 111,308 troops, 75,144 of them for assault. Victory opened airway to Japan.

General Tel Notes Rise In Illegal Credit Card Use

General Telephone Co. of Ohio and its sister company, Northern Ohio Telephone Co. used to laugh with college students when they tried to stuff phone booths or call the Queen of England person to person.

The companies draw a line, however, when a so-called prank results in a criminal act. They noted a rising tide of fraudulent credit card telephone calls, chiefly on college campuses around the state.

"A number of college students are abusing the credit card service," said James A. Moore, security director. "Since schools opened this fall, we have observed an upsurge in this area."

Some apparently are making up fictitious credit card numbers and others are using stolen cards. In some cases, they use numbers published in underground newspapers. The latter usually indicate a celebrity has authorized anyone to use his credit card number.

"Whatever the method," Moore added, "it is illegal. Chances are the student will get caught sooner or later."

The Ohio Revised Code provides for one-to-seven years imprisonment if the dollar amount exceeds $60. This is considered a felony. Amounts less than $60 result in a misdemeanor count, punishable by up to $500 fine or six months in jail, said Moore.

The law also provides for accumulation, he added. A person can be charged with a felony if the dollar amount of many calls in a consecutive 12-month period totals $60. This would apply whether he made one $60 call, or 60 $1 calls.

"Either way, a student is taking a great risk," Moore continued. "If caught and convicted, it could haunt him the rest of his life."

He noted the companies have a team of investigators who are trained to track down toll fraud. And, more often than not, they get their man.

Toll fraud averages about $2,500 a month, he noted. After investigation about 85 per cent of that figure is identified and billed or prosecuted.

"What's more," he added, "the unlocated portion is stored in a computer. Sometimes a slight bit of additional data can bring the ax down on some unwary violator."

Tigers Ready For Franklin Heights

Circleville's Tigers will be out to make it nine in a row when they host the Falcons of Franklin Heights Friday night at Tiger field.

The Red and Black will be out to strengthen its position in the Class AA standings where they are rated third behind New Lexington and Bucyrus.

"Our kids are still up in the air over winning the league title," Coach Denny Williams offered, "but are working hard and will be ready for Friday night."

"They are still smarting from the 46-0 pasting handed them by the Falcons last year," Williams continued, "and will be out to make amends."

FRANKLIN Heights will bring a team to town which has been up and down this season. They have enough victories under their belt to prove they can be tough on any given night, at tested to by their big win over the Blue Lions of Washington C. H.

The Falcons offense is powered by a pair of fine running backs in the persons of Carmichael and Toney. They have to be respected as a fine one-two punch and can hurt you from any position in the field.

Not considered a strong defensive team, the Falcons rely on their offense to outscore the opponents which they have proven they can do.

Normally Franklin Heights is not considered a passing team but have a boy who can put the ball in the air and several receivers who are capable of pulling it down.

One thing you can be assured of — it's the season finale for the Falcons and they will pull everything they have out of the bag in an attempt to derail the high flying Tigers.

Heights is strong physically and make you earn every piece of real estate you get. They keep coming at you and are not a team that will wear down.

THE Tigers injury list has cleared up and they will be healthy going into the fray and will also be physically strong.

Coach Denny Williams will utilize his running game in conjunction with the passing game to keep the Falcons off balance.

The tough Red and Black defensive unit will be out to show Franklin Heights that everything they have heard about them is true. They really are a rockem-sockem outfit who hit and hurt.

When the Tiger offensive unit takes the field, it will be Mike Webb and Don Valentine at the ends with Bill Fowler and Mark Davey manning the tackle posts.

The guards will be Gary Robbins and Gary Mogan and Craig Allison will be over the ball.

Tom Bowers will be calling the signals, Chris Long at the slot back, Rich Speakman at fullback and Tom Shea will be operating from the tailback post.

THE defensive unit will have Fowler and Valentine at the ends, Tom Frericks and Bill Francis at the tackles and Mark Davey at the middle guard.

Dick Radcliff and either Jim Mogan or Mike Hamrick will handle the linebackers duties.

Dave Truex and Long will cover the cornerbacks territory while Doyle Kish and Bowers will work from the halfbacks positions.

The parents of the players and cheerleaders will be honored during the half-time ceremonies.

Circleville will play its final game of the season on Nov. 13 when they will host the strong grid squad from Logan High School.

Arkansas State Widens Poll Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas State, after boosting its record to 7-0 with a 69-7 rout over Lamar Tech last Saturday, increased its first place lead over Montana this week in The Associated Press College Division Football Poll.

With five first-place votes, one more than last week, Arkansas State compiled 242 points in the balloting by sports writers and sportscasters throughout the country while Montana had two top votes and 199 points.

Arkansas State led only 257-231 the previous week when Louisiana made the biggest jump from ninth to seventh after a 9-7 victory over Northeast Louisiana.

Delaware dropped one notch to eighth; Wofford, No. 9, moved up one place, and Southern Illinois dropped two places to 10th despite mauling Bradley 69-3.

Eastern Kentucky made the biggest jump in the Top Twenty, from 19th to 14th, while Boise State dropped from 15th to a tie for 19th.

The only new team is Jacksonville, Ala., No. 18, while Springfield, Mass., which held that slot, fell from the rankings.

OSU, Irish, Michigan Vie For Title Of 'The Best'

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Which is the better team — Notre Dame or Ohio State or possibly Michigan?

The Ohio State-Michigan argument will be resolved Nov. 21 when the two teams meet. But what about second-ranked Notre Dame and third-ranked Ohio State?

They don't play, but a couple of coaches who took their lumps from both teams shed some light on the matter.

Northwestern's Alex Agase, who opened the season by losing to Notre Dame 35-14 and last week lost to Ohio State 74-10, flatly says, "On the days we played them, Notre Dame was the better team and Joe Theismann was a more effective quarterback than Rex Kern."

Agase's thinking apparently has been reflected in The Associated Press poll which has seen Ohio State slip from No. 1 to No. 3 behind Texas and Notre Dame in two weeks despite the fact the Buckeyes have remained undefeated.

Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State apparently also leans towards Notre Dame although his Spartans lost to both powers by identical 29-0 scores.

"Ohio State is more explosive on offense," Daugherty told the Chicago football writers via a telephone hookup Tuesday. "Notre Dame is stronger defensively, has more consistent quarterbacking in combining the running and passing games."

Daugherty's Spartans also lost to fifth-ranked Michigan, 34-20, and he said of the Wolverines: "Michigan defensively is equal to or better than both teams and it's quarterback, Don Moorhead, was great on third down plays against Wisconsin and he did the same thing against us."

"A quarterback of this stature inspires a team," added Daugherty. "And he also gets you on the scoreboard."

Ara Parseghian, who makes no bones about the fact that Notre Dame's main objective is to win the national championship and to do so, a team has to finish No. 1, had an explanation for Ohio State's slide from first to third.

"Pollsters are influenced by the method of winning," said Ara. "Polls at best are guesswork which distinguish teams which are winning."

"There is small, if any difference between teams ranked No. 1 or No. 2 or even No. 9 or No. 10 for that matter."

Parseghian agreed that the possibility is strong for a rematch of top-ranked Texas and Notre Dame in a postseason clash.

"So many things can happen," cautioned Parseghian. "It is conceivable the two teams could again meet in the Cotton Bowl. It is conceivable Notre Dame might go to another bowl and it is conceivable that Notre Dame will not go to any bowl."

Pistons Trip Atlanta Hawks, Win 117-105

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Low Alcindor seems to have shifted into high gear as the Milwaukee Bucks began to pick up speed in their chase after Detroit, but the Pistons don't seem to be slowing down.

The Pistons, the surprise club of the National Basketball Association, beat the Atlanta Hawks in Atlanta 117-105 Wednesday night for their 11th victory in 12 starts this season.

The Pistons, picked to finish far behind the Bucks in the Midwest Division, thus held onto their lead, although Alcindor poured in 53 points to lead the Bucks past the bedraggled Cleveland Cavaliers 110-108 in Cleveland.

The Cavaliers are now 0-12, three defeats shy of the NBA record for consecutive losses at the start of a season and six short of the record for any time.

In other game Seattle added to the woes of Buffalo, another expansion team, beating the host Braves 126-101; Boston nipped Philadelphia 115-113; visiting Phoenix outshot Cincinnati 133-115 and on the West Coast, New York trimmed San Diego 109-100 and San Francisco turned back Baltimore 111-100.

The hero for Detroit this time was reserve guard Howard Komives, who hit three baskets in a row at the start of the fourth period to turn an 83-81 lead into an eight-point spread, leaving the Hawks behind to stay.

Dave Bing led Detroit with 25 points, and Lou Hudson had 21 for Atlanta, the Central Division favorite now saddled with a 2-6 record.

Cleveland took a 62-51 lead at halftime despite Alcindor's 35 points. However, the Bucks, now 6-1, pulled ahead 101-96 with four minutes left. The Cavaliers got within 106-104 and then 110-108, but John Johnson missed a final shot and Alcindor grabbed the rebound with 11 seconds to go.

Seattle shot into a 23-5 lead and Buffalo never got closer than 13 again as the Braves lost their seventh straight for a 1-8 mark. Tom Merscher had 22 points for the SuperSonics and Don May 23 for Buffalo.

Bengals Rap Pittsburgh's Tartan Turf

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals of the National Football League Wednesday were highly critical of the Tartan Turf in Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium.

The lower-napped surface covers the field for both the Steelers, who beat the Bengals 21-10 Monday and the National League baseball Pirates.

It had rained for five days before the game and almost to a man, the Bengals were critical of the playing surface.

The Bengals play on Astro-turf in Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium but the Cincinnati players claimed it drains better.

"It holds water like a sponge," said linebacker Ken Avery of the Tartan Turf.

Jess Phillips, running back, agreed and called it "ridiculous."

Several claimed there was one area on the field where water would splash every time a tackle was made.

"Both teams slipped and fell and blew some key plays in that one spot," noted Paul Brown, coach and general manager.

Fort Wayne's Chick Carr competed in his 56th consecutive ABC tournament in 1970.

MAC May Have Only 1st, 2nd Place Grid Finishers

By GEORGE STRODE

Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Would you believe the six-member Mid-American Conference may have only first and second place finishers in its 1970 football race?

If host Bowling Green whips Ohio University Saturday and Kent State upsets Miami next week, that's the believe-it-or-not situation for the Mid-American.

Toledo, of course, already has locked up first place with its 5-0 record. Bowling Green and Kent victories would knot those two, Miami, Ohio and Western Michigan in second place with 2-3 records in the league.

Around the state:

Bill Hess talking about his 1960 Ohio University national small college champions and the current Toledo powerhouse that has a record 19 straight triumphs for a Mid-American squad:

"My 1960 team was single platoon. Toledo would have more football players. We didn't need as many."

Hess, dean of league coaches in his 13th season, said Rocket quarterback Chuck Ealey is "as fine a quarterback as the conference has seen."

"He can pass, No. 1; he can run, No. 2; he can scramble, calls all the plays and he's a fine leader. He's just a complete quarterback," the Bobcat mentor said.

What a difference a year makes. Bowling Green's Vern Wireman, the Mid-American's passing whiz of 1969, has lost his job to Don Plusquellic. Wireman has hit only 34 per cent of his passes this fall. Plusquellic connected on 10 straight throws against Marshall last week.

Split end Mike Palijs noted three catches and eight yards for a Miami school record. He has 96 receptions for 1,418 career yards. Tailback Tim Fortney is 214 yards short of a Redskin one-season rushing record with 795 yards.

Foster Prepares To Meet Frazier

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Bob Foster has muscled up from a light heavyweight and says he'll "knock Joe Frazier's block off" to kill the highly-sought battle between the heavyweight king and Muhammad Ali.

"Jabs, that's what you need to beat Frazier," said the light heavy king, "and I've got a great left jab."

Hank Aaron Named For Gehrig Award

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Phi Delta Theta, a national college fraternity, has given its 1970 Lou Gehrig Memorial Award to veteran outfielder Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves.

Aaron, who got his 3,000th career hit last season, is the 16th winner of the award, established in memory of the great Yankee first baseman. Pete Rose of Cincinnati was last year's winner.

Sam Huff Prefers Football To Involvement In Politics

By BEN THOMAS

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the pro football wash: Election Day plus one. And it seems only fitting to recall the words of Sam Huff, the great all-pro linebacker now an assistant coach of the Washington Redskins, following an unsuccessful race for Congress earlier this year.

"I want to coach again," Huff said then. "Sports is competitive. Everybody gets an equal opportunity and the best man always gets to play. That is not so in politics. It's a tougher game."

"In football," Huff continued, "Your opponents are right across the scrimmage line where you can see them. In politics, your opponents are everywhere. It is like fighting shadows. I have been through hell, but I love a challenge. In sports I learned to win—and lose."

With tongue in cheek, Ed Podolak, the second-year running back of the Kansas City Chiefs, tells this tale of his introduction to football as a small boy in Atlantic, Iowa.

Podolak claims that he and his brother were riding their horses from school to the family farm.

"We saw this game being played. We didn't know what it was and asked the man in charge about it. 'Football,' he declared and then proceeded to provide us with the rudiments."

"Would you like to try it he asked. 'You bet,' I responded, and the next thing I was carrying the ball around the end, going over tackle, and not doing too badly for a kid who had never ever seen the game played."

"Next thing I said to the man was 'This is easy, I'll bet I could beat anyone else in the country at it.'"

"Fine," said the man, "Now would you like to try it without the horse?"

Laurelville Opens Cage Season With Bishop Flaget

Coach Jim Arnold and his Laurelville High School cage squad have been hard at work preparing for the season opener Friday when they play host to Bishop Flaget.

Gone are regulars Mike Shaw, Marty Unger, Steve Smith, Rick Fast and Mike Eveland from last year's team which compiled a fine 18-2 record.

Back from last year's squad are Dave Thompson, 5-10 1/2 guard; Roger Weaver, 5-11 forward; and Steve McCabe, 5-9 guard, giving Arnold a solid nucleus for this year's team. All three cagers are seniors.

Juniors Don Kempton, 5-10 and Terry Link, 6-3 will probably round out the starting five for the Wildcats.

GARY Nichols, 5-8 senior; juniors Keith Ebert, 5-6; Greg VanCuren, 6-0; Rich Roth, 5-10; Butch Valentine, 5-10; Wesley Blum, 5-6; and sophomore Richard Jones, 5-11, will round out the squad.

"We will lack size and depth on the club," Coach Jim Arnold stated, "but will make up for it with team work, attitude, shooting, passing and plenty of team hustle."

If past performance is any criterion, Coach Arnold and assistant coach Clayton Stahr will put a Wildcat team on the floor that won't have to take a back seat to anyone.

Laurelville's schedule for the coming season is: Nov. 6, Bishop Flaget; Nov. 13 at Huntington; Nov. 20, Zane Trace; Nov. 25 at Southeastern; Dec. 4 at Unioto; Dec. 5 at Glouster; Dec. 11, Ohio Deaf; Dec. 12, Southeastern; Dec. 18, Logan Elm; Dec. 19 at Berne Union; Jan. 2 at Union Furnace; Jan. 8 at Adena; Jan. 9, Huntington; Jan. 15 at Logan Elm; Jan. 16, Berne Union; Jan. 22, Paint Valley; Jan. 23, Glouster; Jan. 29, at Piketon; Feb. 5, Union Furnace; Feb. 12, Westfall.

Two more quarterbacks have passed the 20,000-yard mark with their passing. John Hadl of San Diego now has 20,072 yards and Kansas City's Lenny Dawson has 20,095.

There are now seven active National Football League quarterbacks over the 20,000-yard mark. Johnny Unitas heads the list.

Top Gridders Retain Lead In Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — Daryle Lamonica, Floyd Little, Chuck Hinton and Jan Stenerud retained their leads in the four top statistical categories this week in the American Conference of the National Football League.

Lamonica of Oakland again topped the quarterbacks after hitting 13 of 28 passes for 125 yards and two touchdowns in a 17-17 deadlock against Kansas City. He was followed again by Bill Nelsen of Cleveland and rookie Dennis Shaw of Buffalo.

Little of Denver carried 15 times for 65 yards in a 19-13 loss to Washington, enough to keep him in the rushing lead with 538 yards on 123 carries, a 4.5 average. Hewitt Dixon of Oakland was second and O.J. Simpson of Buffalo jumped from sixth to third after a 123-yard day.

Hinton of Baltimore caught only one pass last week and had to share his pass receiving lead with rookie Ray Chester of Oakland with 30 catches after Chester hauled in six.

Stenerud of Kansas City, kicking a field goal and two extra points, raised his leading scoring total to 60 points.

Paul Martha of Denver, W.K. Hicks of the New York Jets, Jerry Logan of Baltimore and Johnny Robinson of Kansas City remained tied for the interception lead with four each, while Ed Podolak of Kansas City kept his punt return lead with a 15.5 yard average per return.

Speedy Duncan of Baltimore took the kickoff return lead from Mel Blount of Pittsburgh with a 39.9 yard average on the strength of his 99-yarder last Sunday. Gerald Wilson of Kansas City held on to his punting lead with a 46.6 yard average per kick.

Mass Reforms Announced By Vatican

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican today issued a detailed reform of the Mass allowing women a greater role in the liturgy. It also in effect sanctioned such musical modernization as rock and soul Masses if the local bishop approves.

Women now can lead the congregation in hymns and scripture reading, except for the Gospel, and can serve as ushers and collection-takers. They are still barred from serving as acolytes, even in convents or women's chapels.

In many Roman Catholic communities, including those in the United States, women already have been performing the permitted duties on an experimental basis.

The reform also permits:
—Celebration of Mass outside the church, such as in the home, but only with permission of the local bishop in cases of "real need."

—Selection by the local bishop of music for the Mass, without excluding any instrument or style.

—Experiments in the Mass within "clearly defined limits," to be conducted only for one year, then reported to the Vatican for permission to continue.

The document urged that "all means be used to promote singing by the people." Jazz, rock and folk Masses were not mentioned specifically, but the document said the music "must serve the worship of God."

URGES EXTENSION—Charles W. Yost, U.S. ambassador to the U.N., proposes that the Arab-Israeli cease-fire be extended for at least three months.

Blacks Gain Local - Level Seats

WASHINGTON (AP) — There'll be more black faces in the House of Representatives as a result of Tuesday's elections — up three to a total of 12. But the dramatic victories for blacks this year came mainly at the state and local levels.

For the first time since the turn of the century, blacks won seats in the lower houses of the South Carolina and Alabama legislatures, victories that surprised even some of the black political strategists in those states.

There were four black candidates for the South Carolina Legislature. All were Democrats and all won. James Clyburn, one of the candidates from Charleston, said in a pre-election interview that victories by even two would give blacks some hope of gaining influence within the state's Democratic party machinery.

Two black candidates cracked the all-white Alabama house, legislatures, victories that surprised even some of the black political strategists in those states.

One, attorney Fred Gray, ran on the regular Democratic slate; the other, state NAACP President Thomas Reed, under the banner of the black-oriented National Democratic party of Alabama.

Dr. John Cashin, a Huntsville dentist who formed the party two years ago to challenge the seating of the regular party at the 1968 Democratic National Convention, was trounced overwhelmingly in his challenge to George C. Wallace for the governorship.

Cincy Awaits Booze Date

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pleased with a slightly better performance of their electronic vote tabulating equipment, Hamilton County Board of Election voters boasted Wednesday that the results, for once, were not the last to report in the state.

Finishing 87th out of 88 counties, Hamilton County did manage to report before Cuyahoga County, with final returns in at 5:15 a. m.

"Once we got that part in she really started rolling," said Muury Allen, deputy director of the Hamilton County Board of Elections.

A gear had gone bad in one of four monster ballot tabulators around 2 a. m. and caused a two hour delay. Although it was early morning before the tabulations were completed it was a far cry from the May 5 Primary when results were not complete until noon.

That performance brought a three page letter of criticism from Ohio Secretary of State Ted W. Brown demanding a faster count.

Hamilton county responded with installation of some refined electronic equipment and had hoped for results at 3 a. m.

The Coleman system uses a full size office ballot on which voters stamp out their selections with an inked-up sponged pencil. The machinery counts the ballots after they are placed on spindles.

But black candidates running on Cashin's NDPA ticket took over a few more county government posts, including a new black sheriff of Lowndes County, right next door to the turbulent area ruled by Selma Sheriff Jim Clark wearing his "Never" button in the mid-1960s.

California voters picked a mild-mannered, 53-year-old black deputy administrator, Wilson C. Riles, to end Dr. Max Rafferty's eight-year reign as the outspokenly conservative head of the nation's largest public school system.

As state superintendent of public instruction, Riles became the first black to win a major statewide elective office in California.

Voters in California's 7th District elected Ronald V. Dellums, a tall, Afro-haired Berkeley city councilman, one of the three new black House members.

The other two new black house seats went to Parrin J. Mitchell, a Baltimore civil right activist and political science professor, and George W. Collins, 45-year-old ward boss on Chicago's heavily black West Side.

All seven Democratic House incumbents were returned, and black Democrats kept control of two seats held by Reps. James Dawson, D-Ill., and Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y.
